

Annual Report 2018

Our Mission

To empower migrant domestic workers in Hong Kong, regardless of nationality or background, to transform their lives through financial education and personal development programs.

Dear friends,

In 2017, we marked our 10th anniversary, looking back on how far Enrich has come since we were founded. Since then, we have grown more than ever in our reach, impact and partnerships, and we are excited for what's ahead!

In 2018, we reached a staggering 16,212 migrant domestic workers through our financial and empowerment education and outreach.

We also extended our partnerships internationally, through the Beyond Myself exhibition with Goldsmiths, University of London, the University of Hong Kong and Keele University as well as the first ever regional Migrant Stars competition in partnership with non-profits One-Forty (Taipei) and Aidha (Singapore).

Additionally, we are thrilled to have been granted the 'Financial Education Champion' award from the Investor and Financial Education Centre (IFEC). In partnership with the IFEC, we have also extended our resources for employers of domestic workers.

Over the last year, we have seen a dramatic increase in migrant domestic workers coming to Hong Kong to meet our care needs. With your help we hope to scale up our work – please support us to ensure that all domestic workers are empowered to escape debt and achieve their goals, through life-changing education.

Our Approach

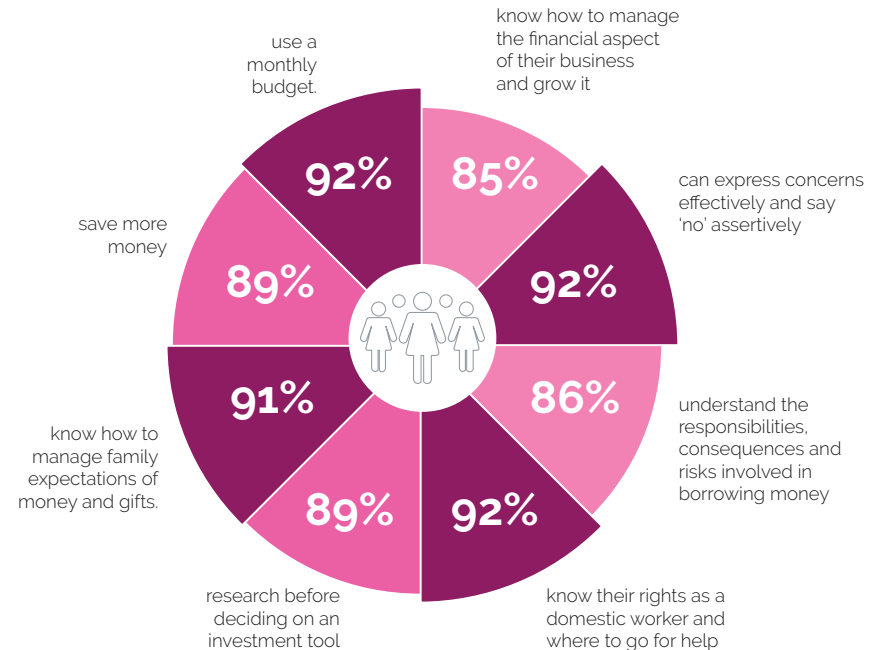

We believe that financial and empowerment education is a life-changing solution to the challenges faced widely by migrant domestic workers in Hong Kong.

Our interactive workshops and activities run on weekends and public holidays, in native languages of domestic workers (including Tagalog and Bahasa Indonesia), equipping them with skills, knowledge and confidence to escape debt, plan for their future and achieve their goals. We are impartial and do not sell or promote any financial products as part of our programmes in order to create a safe, trusted learning environment.

Our Impact

Impact is very important to us. After every workshop or programme, our evaluation process allows us to assess how we can better meet migrant domestic workers' needs. Here is what our participants gain from our financial and empowerment education programme.

Graduate Spotlight

Dwi Nyoman Wihasti

In 2018, we said farewell to Dwi Nyoman Wihasti, the Head Coordinator of our Indonesian Ambassadors, who went home to Indonesia after 12 years in Hong Kong to pursue her goal of being an entrepreneur. Today she owns multiple businesses! Here is her story.*

"As a child, my family was poor. My dream was simple; I wanted to finish university and work in an office. But I struggled just to finish high school.

One day, my father became seriously ill. I was a factory labourer at the time - how could I afford his treatment? So when someone offered me a job in Hong Kong, I accepted.

After spending nine months in a training centre, I departed to Hong Kong on 26 May, 2006.

To get there, I took a loan from an Indonesian agency, as well as an agency in Hong Kong. I felt a big pressure because the amount was too much - HK$3000 per month for 7 months.

A year later, my father recovered from his illness, but I stayed in Hong Kong. In my tenth year, I met Enrich.

I joined Enrich's 'Money Wise Migrants' workshop. I fell in love with the class and I completed all five workshops. Financial skills, time management and self-empowerment - I learned them all from Enrich. I now track my expenses, to distinguish between 'wants' and 'needs'.

I've learned how to be a good leader, how to communicate and interact with many people. After graduating from Enrich in 2017, I became an Enrich ambassador. I would even share my story with new workers at the Indonesian Consulate.

Instead of wanting to work in an office, my goal became to set up my own registered company. For 7 years, I had dreamed of owning a catering business and finally on 24 June, 2018, I went home to fulfil my dream.

It was hard, but after facing many challenges, I successfully registered my company, 'CV. Indogot Berkah Makmur'. I named my catering business 'Wie Catering'. I even completed a catering qualification! While waiting for my catering business to be more productive, I developed my family's laundry shop and opened a Nasi Goreng shop.

It's hard to express with words how much Enrich has helped me because I can really feel it so deep in my heart. Even though I now live in Indonesia, I will always be an Enrich ambassador."

Financial Education

Our financial literacy workshops not only equip migrant domestic workers with knowledge, skills and tools, but also empower them to make lasting changes to their financial behaviour. They learn basic budgeting and goal-setting skills, and tools to overcome and avoid debt. We also cover investment concepts/tools and how to identify investment scams, as well as the fundamentals of entrepreneurship.

Myra Tabilon Tapiceria

"I attended Enrich because I wanted to get rid of my debts. The first workshop I went to, 'Money Wise Migrants', taught me a lot. I realized that borrowing money is not free, and that I should think about my future spending rather than only the money I was spending today."

Empowerment Education

Our empowerment education workshops combine role-play, discussions and interactive exercises - a dynamic programme where participants learn about their rights as migrant domestic workers in Hong Kong. Other important aspects of this training include confident communication and balancing pressures from the family with long-term goals and plans.

Yani Bt Tarnu Waras

"I have gained so much knowledge and confidence from Enrich. Enrich has helped me to pull myself up after falling down. I have become wiser and have started making plans to fulfil my dreams."

One-to-one Support

Individualised assistance is key. Our participants receive advice and guidance that is tailored to their circumstances. Our one-off and long-term mentoring programmes are a fantastic way for mentees to assess their progress with their mentors and build their confidence to continue towards their goals. Our financial counselling service enables migrant domestic workers in financial difficulties to access urgent and confidential advice.

"Thank you to my mentor David for all the sacrifices, effort and patience with me throughout our 6 months' mentoring. I found not just a mentor but a friend as well. Now, I am confident and faithful to go back home for good! I will spread and plant more seeds to others, to inspire them as well and to live with a purpose!"

Lunch and Learns

Our Lunch & Learn sessions cover a range of relevant topics to supplement what our participants learn in our workshops. In these lectures, our participants hear from external speakers and industry experts, providing great opportunities for deeper and ongoing learning. In 2018, we ran Lunch & Learn sessions on business, investment, and return and reintegration.

Outreach

To make sure that we reach as many migrant domestic workers as possible, we get out on the street, raise awareness on social media and partner with consulates, the media, other charities and community groups. Here are some of our outreach highlights from 2018.

Enrich Ambassador Programme

We were supported by 38 migrant domestic worker ambassadors in 2018. These superstars give up time on their day off to support our outreach and events, volunteering 199 hours last year.

Welcome sessions for new arrivals

We engaged with 5914 newly arrived migrant domestic workers through 54 welcome sessions at the Philippine and Indonesian Consulates.

111

employers of domestic workers reached

Street Outreach

We arranged 32 street outreach sessions. We conduct outreach all over Hong Kong with our staff and ambassadors to raise awareness of our programmes amongst the migrant domestic worker community.

Spreading the word online

We broadcasted 9 episodes of 'Ask the Experts', a regular Facebook Live video series answering migrant domestic workers' questions on a wide range of topics with industry experts, including the Hong Kong Police, lawyers, financial planners, other non-profit organisations and our own Enrich trainers.

Our Events

Beyond Myself

We proudly presented the international art exhibition, Beyond Myself, in collaboration with Curating Development (Goldsmiths, University of London), the University of Hong Kong and Keele University. From April 26 - May 14, 2018 the exhibition was displayed at The Hive Spring, featuring art by Filipino domestic worker artists in Hong Kong and London. We also held a reception for the domestic worker community and a screening of The Helper Documentary.

#MigrantStars

We ran the Migrant Stars 2018 Competition (Hong Kong), in partnership with non-profits One-Forty (Taiwan) and Aidha (Singapore), asking the public to nominate domestic workers who are stars in different categories. The first regional competition of its kind, Migrant Stars aimed to reveal the 'human' behind the term 'migrant domestic worker'. The 10 winners were chosen by an esteemed judging panel and recognized in a ceremony at Campfire Collaborative Spaces.

Congratulations Class of 2018!

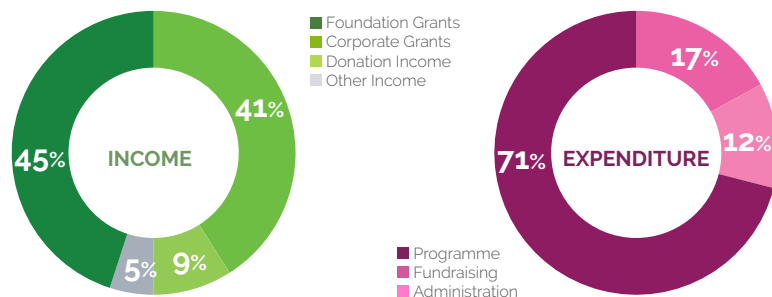

Our third Annual Graduation ceremony was held on March 18, 2018, hosted by the University of Hong Kong. It was an emotional and joyful event celebrating the achievements of 170 migrant domestic workers who had graduated from our financial and empowerment education programmes! In attendance were also graduates' employers and friends, and Enrich's funders and supporters.

"I am blessed to be part of Enrich's financial and empowerment education programme for I know I am learning the value of money, how to enrich it, positively impact my life and that of others, and be a constant blessing to others who need the same knowledge and wisdom I got from the organisation."
